Infection control:

One of the most important aspects of the hospital environment is infection control. It is now a major factor in the assessment of a hospital's performance and rightly so, as any improvements in infection control can cause an immediate increase in the number of lives saved. And as the risk of infection is reduced, the quality of life for patients is enhanced.

YewdaleHarrier® disposable curtains should become an integral part of every hospital's overall infection control strategy. A programme of regular replacement can be supplemented by a policy of immediate change in any areas that have been exposed to high infection risk.

The curtains are manufactured from recyclable polypropylene and available with or without an impregnated anti-bacterial Biosafe formula. A self-auditing label allows for monitoring of the frequency of curtain changes in line with infection control policies. Test results are available on request.

Eco-friendly and recyclable:

YewdaleHarrier® disposable curtains have a unique patent-pending design, they have no plastic eyelet. Instead, they have a simple hook hollow which saves up to 100 grams of plastic waste per curtain and makes them 100% recyclable. With the curtains being produced in the UK and not overseas, the curtain's carbon footprint is dramatically reduced making them the ideal curtain for healthcare settings that are striving towards carbon neutral targets.

Safe and durable:

Flame-retardant to BS5867 Part 2 Type C and made from 110g lightweight polypropylene, YewdaleHarrier® disposable curtains are safe and tough. The fabric we use is actually up to 40% stronger than other disposable curtains on the market. We have rigorously tested the fabric quality and performance, and guarantee its durability under the harshest of environmental conditions. Test results are available on request.

Enhanced quality of life for patients and staff:

Conventional curtains that have been through many wash cycles soon begin to look worn and tired. YewdaleHarrier® disposable curtains will always look fresh and new - because they are! The curtains are permanently pleated as part of the manufacturing process, which ensures that they will always stack neatly, and close to the wall, giving the ward a bright and orderly appearance at all times.
